Francis Antonio Questel

Born December 20, 1966

Deceased April 16, 2003

On December 20, 1966, Francis was born to Francisco Cristel Questel and Gladys Emma Questel in St. Thomas, Virgin Islands.

His birth brought great joy to our lives and today, we are here to celebrate his life. When he could not see the road ahead or know which path to take, God was faithful and sincere to light up his journey.

Francis grew up in St. Thomas, Virgin Islands. He completed most of his education at Sts. Peter and Paul's Catholic School and Charlotte Amalie High School.

In his adult life, he worked at a law firm which he gained knowledge in the legal system and communications.

He relocated to Washington, D.C., where he then worked as a chef and served in the administrative field. During his journey his steps were lit up by God's love and seasoned by His grace.

Francis was the peace-maker in the family. His happiness depended on overseeing that the family stayed in good harmony.

Francis was an inspiration to the homeless. He fed them and loved them as people. He spent his spare time reading and was in the process of writing a memoir of his roots.

Francis realized later in his life that he was like a ship tossed at sea on a dark stormy night, sailing through life with no shore in sight until he finally remembered a phrase that his parents taught him: "Keep faith, never give up."

Francis final months were filled with faith. It was tough in his early life, he sought God's grace to be free from sin. His faith was restored and he was relieved. He started calling his parents, aunts and sisters on Saturdays and enjoyed the exchange of scriptures. He started sailing through life on a much calmer sea where God's safe harbor in heaven was awaiting him on April 16, 2003.

Francis you will always hold a spot in our hearts, in God's hands we place you, may you rest in peace.
