Guillaume H. Questel

“MING”

July 25, 1931 - July 04, 2010

On July 25, 1931 Guillaume was born to Eugene H. Questel and Inez Bute in Santa Domingo.

His birth brought great joy to everyone lives and today we are here to celebrate his life. God has been sincere and has guided him throughout his life with strong faith and strength. Guillaume better known as Ming grew up in Santa Domingo until he was seven years old and then moved to St. Barthelemy with his father. In his early twenties he was known as an explorer of the sea. During this time he lived between St. Barth's and St. Maarten until he relocated to St. Thomas at the age of 27 in 1958 which now became home for him. As his new life now began which was a journey that have left many footprints until now, he has never lived a dull moment always on a quest. He was the life of the party always known for his white shoes which he cherished dearly. He lived in Frenchtown with the love of his life his sunshine Josephine Magras until her passing many years later. He continued to reside in Frenchtown a city of its own with magical wonders and people. During these years he first worked at the Hilton Hotel where is was a chef for four years then moved on to begin working at Cyril E. King Airport as a Red Cap. At the airport he spent at least 30 years where his brother, known as Ruby, and him were highly recognized and respected for their brotherly bond. This bond was very special because they were inseparable, because the Questel brothers were the foundation of the Red Caps. Guillaume was the highlight of everyone's day and never turned anyone in need away. He always was open and welcome all as his own family, always there for advice leaving no stone unturned until he could help resolve any problem.

The sky was the limit with him, no point never too far to go for anyone, forever giving and wanting nothing in return. His genuine concern and caring for others around has defined this wonderful man that we all was blessed to have in our lives. Like a ship set out to sail on a voyage to find wonders and jewels is whom Ming has been to all our priceless gem our shining star! Guillaume's final months were filled with faith and he was able to stay strong and leave an even greater impact to all with the grace of God and his strength. He has been called to the highest sea to sail in peace with our Lord; he now will forever be at a calm shore. Guillaume you will always hold a spot in our hearts, in God's hands we place you, may you rest in peace.
