The Life of Marie Therese Greaux

Marie Therese Greaux was born on the French island of St. Barth's on April 15, 1931. She was the first of ten children born to Pierre and Marie Elsie Aubin. Therese was married to Louis Phillippe Greaux, now deceased, on February 10, 1955. In 1966, in search of a better life for their family, Therese was forced to make an extremely difficult decision. She left her three children in the care of her sisters so that she could move to St. Thomas to join Phillippe, who had relocated a few months prior, in search of employment. Therese eventually found a job as a housekeeper for various households. Many years later, when Phillippe was employed as a groundskeeper at the Windward Passage Hotel and his source of income increased, Therese was able to stay at home and raise her children, and later on her grandchildren.

Therese led a simple, but full life. Her children, their spouses, her grandchildren, and great grandson were the center of her life. Her joy was most visible when she was surrounded by her grandchildren, and most recently, the time she was able to spend with her great grandson. Therese had a tremendous love for God and her church. Seldom did a day go by where she did not pray her rosary. Her television remained on the religious channel for much of the day. Therese's favourite hobby was growing plants and flowers. Any plant she touched was sure to bloom. She also enjoyed cooking various dishes for her family.

Therese began experiencing the symptoms of heart disease in 1992. After enduring underlying ailments and making numerous monthly trips to the doctor and hospital over the past few years, Therese suffered a massive stroke and fell into a coma on May 7, 2008. On May 16, 2008, the Lord called Marie home. Although she is no longer physically here with us, she will always live on in our hearts. May she rest in peace.
